Other Lives (Interlink World Fiction) Iman Humaydan

In Other Lives, Myriam's travels take her from her Shouf mountain village to Beirut, Melbourne and Paradise, Australia to Nairobi, Mombasa and Cape Town. Unwilling to be tied down by geography, language or men, Myriam forges a path through the world that is at once hers uniquely and also deeply informed by her life's experiences. Again and again, she is drawn back to the Lebanon of her birth and childhood, only to find it no longer there. She is forced to confront the ghosts of the civil war—her dead brother, her disappeared lover, and the life that she left behind when she immigrated to Australia. Humaydan deftly explores one woman's negotiation of love and war, intimacy and loss, migration and home in a way that speaks beyond individual but to a collective experience.

Mary Curtis:

As a college student exactly feel bored to help reading. If their teacher expected them to go to the library as well as to make summary for some guide, they are complained. Just small students that has reading's spirit or real their hobby. They just do what the teacher want, like asked to go to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading seriously. Any students feel that reading through is not important, boring and can't see colorful photos on there. Yeah, it is to be complicated. Book is very important for yourself. As we know that on this age, many ways to get whatever we wish. Likewise word says, ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore this Other Lives (Interlink World Fiction) can make you really feel more interested to read.
